

Laptop Issuance & Asset Management Policy

Introduction

This policy outlines the procedures for the request, issuance, and maintenance of company laptops at Cogent Labs. Our goal is to provide team members with the necessary technology to perform their roles effectively while ensuring the responsible management of company assets.

Eligibility

Laptop issuance is restricted to Permanent/Full-Time team members. Eligibility for specific hardware models is determined by the technical requirements of the employee's role.

Procurement and Issuance Procedure

Request Initiation: All requests for new machines must be initiated by the respective Team Lead.

Timeline: Requests must be submitted to the IT Department (it@cogentlabs.co) at least one week (7 days) in advance of the required date.

Upgrades and Replacements: All hardware upgrades or replacements are subject to the same procurement protocols as new equipment.

Lifecycle: Once issued, a machine is expected to remain in service for a minimum of 3 years before it becomes eligible for replacement.

Hardware Standards & Operating Systems

Cogent Labs provides hardware based on functional necessity:

- Linux Machines: The standard issuance for general development and testing purposes.
- MacBook (macOS): Reserved exclusively for macOS and iOS developers.
- Minimum Technical Specifications (Developers/QA):
 - Processor: Intel Core i7 (8th Gen or above)

- RAM: 16GB
- Storage: 250GB SSD or above

Maintenance, Repairs, and Damage

Breakdowns: In the event of a hardware breakdown, the IT department will provide a temporary replacement machine from available stock while the primary unit is undergoing repair.

Damage to Equipment: If a laptop or any issued hardware is damaged due to negligence or accident, the total cost of repair will be deducted from the employee's salary in the following month.

Loss or Theft: Team members are responsible for the physical security of their issued devices at all times. In the event that a machine is stolen or lost, the employee will be held financially liable for the replacement value of the equipment. This amount will be deducted from the employee's salary or final settlement.

Reporting Protocol: Any damage, loss, or theft must be reported to the HR department (hr@cogentlabs.co) and your immediate supervisor within 24 hours of the incident. In cases of theft, a formal police report must be filed and a copy provided to the HR department.

Care of Assets: Employees are responsible for the daily care and protection of the equipment assigned to them. Laptops should not be left unattended in public spaces or unsecured vehicles.

Policy Exceptions

Any deviations from the specifications or procedures outlined in this policy require prior review and approval by higher management. Decisions regarding exceptions will be made based on verified operational requirements.
